#The Inspiring Issue

Dear reader,

You can't click them away, scroll them away, or swipe them away. With all the digital noise that surrounds us, you might think brochures are outdated. Well, the opposite seems to be true. A brochure is tangible and concrete, and you generally approach it with a bit more patience. For us at Lannoo, this international brochure is an indispensable tool for informing our authors, book designers, photographers, clients, distributors and potential buyers about our latest publications.

So, welcome to our brochure, where we take immense pride in presenting our exquisite collection of high-quality books that span a wide range of visual creativity. From the realms of the arts (fine, applied, decorative, performing) to architecture, design, photography, fashion, film, music, archaeology, history and popular culture. Here we have carefully curated a selection that is sure to captivate your mind as well as your senses.

Prepare to be mesmerized by our beautifully designed coffee-table books, which not only please the eye but will also spark debate and conversation. Each title is meticulously crafted by a passionate team of professionals, combining striking photographs and eye-popping illustrations with cutting-edge typography.

Our fashion titles are the result of remarkable collaborations with renowned institutions such as Central Saint Martins in London, resulting in the captivating Exploding Fashion. We also partnered with MoMu, the Antwerp Fashion Museum, for iconic publications like Margiela Fashion, P.LACE.S and Emotion. Moreover, we are thrilled to expand our list of collaborations with museums worldwide, including the launch of fashion designer Iris van Herpen's extraordinary catalogue, Sculpting the Senses, at MAD in Paris.

Embracing one of the decades key trends in interior design, Japandi Living is a true bestseller that has already seen a third reprint within a year. Meanwhile, our prestigious series unveiling the secrets behind elegant homes in world cities that commenced with Barcelona Interiors has now been joined by London Interiors and we are eagerly awaiting the release of the latest addition, Ibiza Interiors, set to grace bookstores everywhere soon.

In the realm of wildlife and fine art photography, Belgian artist Tom D. Jones captures animals solely in their natural habitat, an ethical choice that results in almost human portraits of some of our planet's impressive species.

We invite you to immerse yourself in our brochure and explore the extraordinary world of visual creativity that awaits within its pages.

HIDDEN ARCHITECTURE

In the city, hidden buildings are often designed to provide the occupants with privacy and protection from the busy world outside or can be incorporated into the streetscape to free up space for public use. In the countryside, buildings should not spoil a scenic landscape, but be designed to become a part of it. Buildings can be buried underground, hidden among trees, covered with greenery or even sunk under the sea.

Picasso & Abstraction

This catalogue for a show at the Royal Museum with Fine Arts, Brussels, brings Picasso's relationship to abstraction into focus. With more than 120 exceptional works of art in dialogue with some of the great works of early 20th-century abstraction, it addresses the major stages that punctuated the links between Picasso's work and the history of abstract art.

Japandi is a style that combines serene Scandinavian design elements with the richness of the Japanese design tradition. It is characterized by a combination of beauty, functionality and clean lines with meticulous attention to materials, textures and natural touches. This book will inspire you to create minimalist, yet luxurious Japandi interiors, where the design styles from two very different parts of the world embrace.

LIVING IN COUNTRY STYLE

In this book, you will rediscover the much-loved 'Country Style', which can be applied in so many different ways to a variety of interiors. From modern villas to old farmhouses, country design finds its place everywhere. With its emphasis on natural elements, muted colours and the occasional eccentric accent, you'll learn how to apply the style to your own interiors, too. Photographer Brent Darby and author Wink Colville guide you through more than 20 idyllic interiors.

Escape to the Country

A slower pace of life, outdoor space and tight-knit communities go hand-in-hand with village living – something many came to appreciate during the COVID-19 pandemic. Many city-dwellers are looking for an alternative way of life and are preparing to escape to the country, turning the dream into reality. In this beautifully photographed book, Ben Ashby, the editor-in-chief of Folk Magazine, reflects on the authenticity and charm of life on the farm.
