

'Hey, Zenith, you can't climb on that,' Nadir cries.

'I know, but here I go. Come on!'

'Everything looks different all of a sudden,' Nadir says.
'How did we end up here?'
Zenith gazes left and right. 'We were looking for something.
But I've forgotten what.'
'If you don't know something, it's unknown. We must be searching for the unknown.'

'Let's have a look from above to see if we can see where we were going.'